Improvements to Library Reserves!

Professors! Library Course Reserves have changed a little from last year. The library has put together a Guide covering eReserves for Faculty: http://research.library.ship.edu/reserves-faculty

Long story short:

- Library Course Reserves uses the same software as last year (Ares)
  Ares does not provide a connection for integrating with Desire2Learn (D2L)
  To get your students from D2L to Ares, add this URL to your course:
  http://ares.ship.edu/ares/

- Professors create their own Class(es) in Ares
  - If you used Library Reserves through Ares last year, you may be able to "Clone" your previous Class information into the new semester (see the eReserves for Faculty Guide)
  - If you need a completely new Class, you may create your own class (see the Guide)

- Students find their Class(es) and Add them to their eReserves Profile
  - See below for information you can adapt for your Syllabi

Library Course Reserves

To access the list of Library Reserve items for this course:

1. Go to http://ares.ship.edu/ares/
2. Login with your Ship email address and password
3. Click "Search Classes"
4. Use "Search by Instructor" & Select: [Professor's Name Here ☺]
5. Click "Go"
6. Click the Green Plus Sign next to this course to add a Class to your "My Classes" list
7. Enter the Course Password (given in D2L)

Once the Class is added, it will be available on the main page after you login to Library Course Reserves.

For more information on Library Reserves for Students see:
http://research.library.ship.edu/reserves-students

Aaron Dobbs for the library folks