I. Purpose and Intent

As recipients of grants from sponsors such as the federal government and other sources, State System universities must ensure satisfactory performance by subrecipients in order to fulfill their obligations to sponsors. The purpose of these procedures is to provide guidelines for State System universities to ensure that satisfactory performance. In addition, these procedures provide standards for State System Universities in fulfilling certain mandates and flow down requirements of federal grants. The federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB) "Uniform Guidance" defines certain responsibilities of "pass through entities" in managing "subrecipients." Of particular importance for this document is the requirement, among others, to "monitor the activities of subrecipients as necessary to ensure that the subaward is used for authorized purposes, in compliance with Federal statutes, and the terms and conditions of the subaward, and that subaward performance goals are achieved." In addition, the pass-through entity must ensure the subrecipient has met the audit requirements of the Uniform Guidance Subpart F; it must advise subrecipients of requirements imposed on them by Federal laws, regulations and contracts or grant agreement provisions and require each subrecipient to permit access to records and financial statements. The Uniform Guidance also requires the university to undertake a risk analysis of each federal subrecipient and requires each subrecipient to provide performance reports that compare actual accomplishments to the objectives established by the federal award.

This document is intended to be used by Research Administrators, Grant Accountants and other administrative staff who should apply it and make principal investigators - or project directors aware of relevant sections as needed.

Universities may delegate defined tasks that this procedure assigns to specific offices or personnel, as long as such delegation is documented.

II. Definitions

- A. Co-Project Director or co-Principal Investigator: Staff of a subrecipient who directs or performs the functions listed in II.D.
- B. Pass through entities: A recipient of grant funding, such as the university, which in turn enters into an agreement with a subrecipient for a portion of those funds to carry out a program.
- C. Subaward: A subaward is a formal written agreement made between the university and a subrecipient. It must include a clearly defined, intellectually significant Statement of Work (SOW) to be performed by the subrecipient, and by its personnel, using its own facilities and resources. Subawards are typically needed when the nature of the subrecipient's statement of work could result in intellectual property or publishable results being developed by the subrecipient. In most cases, the need for an entity to obtain compliance approvals (e.g., approval to use human subjects or animal subjects) will also indicate the need to use a subaward rather than a procurement action.
- D. Subrecipient: A third party entity that performs a portion of the Statement of Work (SOW) under a sponsored project administered by the university. A subrecipient takes full responsibility for adhering to the terms and conditions of the subaward (including those flowed down from the sponsor), and assumes creative and intellectual responsibility and leadership as well as financial management for performing and fulfilling the subrecipient's SOW within the subrecipient's approved budget. The "subrecipient" (A.K.A. "subgrantee") party must meet the following criteria, which may not all be present in all cases:
- Perform a substantive part of the programmatic work, which is defined as project activities that support the primary purpose of the prime award;
  - Have responsibility for programmatic decision making;
  - Use the funds provided to carry out a program of the sub-recipient as opposed to providing goods or services for a program of or the benefit of the prime grantee;
  - Determine who is eligible to receive financial assistance under the grant;
  - Have its performance measured against whether the objectives of the program are achieved;
  - Have responsibility for adherence to applicable program compliance requirements.

The subrecipient or subgrantee, and its staff, such as a co-Project Director or co-Principal Investigator assigned to the project, typically are named in the grant proposal and their duties and obligations are an integral part of the response to the funder's requirements.

- E. Subcontracts/Procurement Actions: When the university utilizes a sponsor's funds to purchase goods and services from a third party in an arms-length, buyer-seller relationship with a vendor, subcontracts must be awarded through an open and competitive process, i.e. solicitation of proposals or bids, in compliance with 2 CFR 200.317 through 200.326 when utilizing federal funds, and PA Act 57 of 1998 in all cases.
- F. Vendor (or Sub-contractor): Is a third party that provides goods or services, including professional services or highly technical advice (such as a consultant), as a part of its normal business operations. A vendor meets the following criteria, which may not all be present in all cases:
- Provides similar goods and services to many different purchasers;
  - Operates in a competitive environment in securing clients or customers;
  - Is responsible only for meeting the requirements of the contractual services contract between the university (prime grantee) and the vendor;
  - Provides goods and services that are ancillary to the operation of the grant or contract program;
  - Is not subject to compliance requirements of the grant or contract program.
- G. Uniform Guidance: Is the shortened title of the Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, published by the Federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB) at 2 C.F.R., Chapter II, Part 200 issued and effective December 26 2013.

III. The Subaward Process

- A. At proposal stage, before submitting the proposal, the university grant office shall require the following information from prospective subrecipients:

  2. Annual Statement of work for the subaward(s), and
  3. Current F&A rate agreements.
  4. Annually, federal Single Audit information, available on the Single Audit Clearinghouse website, or audited financial statements.

1. Final invoice,
  2. Final report from the co-PD or co-PI,
  3. All deliverables due under the agreements, and
  4. All technical information, data, reports and other information required by the sponsor.

IV. Summary of Roles and Responsibilities

A. Subrecipient

The subrecipient, (i.e. the third-party entity) shall:

1. Provide the necessary personnel, material, facilities, and other direct costs reasonably required to accomplish the work set forth in the work statement.
2. Deliver all reports, documentation, data, hardware, software, and other deliverables to be furnished under the subcontract as set forth in the delivery schedule.
3. Ensure that all technical and administrative effort and delivery of all reports, documentation, data, hardware, software, and other deliverable end items are submitted by the contract end date.
4. Ensure that all personnel working on the project are completing mandated Time & Effort reporting with their agency.
5. Submit all program status reports and final performance reports within the timeframe outlined in the subaward.
6. Notify the university’s PI immediately if a personnel substitution is needed. Personnel substitutions must be approved through the grant office.
7. Invoice the university grant accounting office as stated in the contract for work performed in accordance with the subaward. Invoices shall cover allowable costs incurred for work performed as outlined in the work statement. Invoices shall be in conformance with sponsor and university requirements.

8. Submit any budget or work statement modifications to the grant office, through the PI. Changes to the original subaward will only be approved in justifiable cases, and must remain in accordance with the prime contract.
9. Provide access to records and financial information as requested by the University.
10. Provide, as requested, audited financial statements or its federal Single Audit. (The latter available on the Federal Audit Clearinghouse)

B. University Project Director (PD) or Principal Investigator(s) (PI)

The university PD/PI is the individual primarily responsible for monitoring the programmatic and financial performance and progress on a subaward. In no event may such monitoring and compliance obligations be delegated to a non-university employee. As part of the university's monitoring responsibilities, the duties of the PD/PI (working in conjunction with the university grant office) during the life of the subaward are as follows. The university grant office shall orient first-time PD/PI's to these requirements:

1. Ensure that the subrecipient provides timely submission of all required materials to the grant office, including documents needed for issuance of the proposal approval and the subrecipient contract.
2. Review subrecipient's statement of work and budget to determine reasonableness.
3. Understand the terms and conditions of the prime award, including those flowed down to the subrecipient and those that may have been imposed by the university, and to regularly monitor the subrecipient's adherence to the subaward's terms and conditions. Such monitoring may take place through phone calls, emails, site visits, meetings, or other regular contact.
4. Review the subrecipient's invoices to confirm the invoices are:
  - a. prepared in accordance with subaward requirements,
  - b. the costs incurred are in accordance with the approved budget during the approved period of performance and overall cost limitations,
  - c. costs incurred are aligned with the scientific progress reported to date, and
  - d. costs are allowable, allocable and reasonable relative to the sponsor's terms and conditions and the subaward issued by the university. In the event the level of detail included on an invoice is not sufficient to fully understand the costs, or if it appears that some costs may be excessive or understated, the PD/PI is responsible for questioning the subrecipient's expenditures or requesting further documentation or explanation prior to approving an invoice. Such inquiries should be done in a timely manner (e.g., within thirty (30) days after receipt of an invoice) so that the subrecipient can be promptly paid for approved costs.
5. Accept satisfactory (as described above) subrecipient invoices, review expenditure statements and submit subrecipient invoices for institutional approvals and payment in a timely manner, consistent with the terms of the subaward.
6. Monitor the subrecipient's performance (i.e. scientific or programmatic progress) in terms of the Statement of Work and any required milestones. If progress is not satisfactory, or if performance reports required of the subrecipient are not submitted timely, the PD/PI is responsible for contacting the subrecipient to address these issues.
7. Verify that the subrecipient is adequately meeting any cost-sharing commitments made for the subaward, and that the subrecipient's indirect costs as charged are in compliance with the indirect cost rate specified in the subaward.

8. Verify that any human subject, animal subject, export control, biosafety or other compliance approvals applicable to the subrecipient's Statement of Work are kept current throughout the performance of the subaward. In the event of a lapse in approval, the PD/PI is responsible for immediately notifying the grant officer. Costs incurred by a subrecipient during a period of lapse may not be charged to a subaward.
9. Act as the primary point of contact for the subrecipient during performance of the subaward. The PD/PI may delegate those responsibilities on a day-to-day basis to another member of the research project, so long as such other member is a full-time, regular university employee.
10. Ascertain whether the subaward Statement of Work or Budget, or both, require modification to add funding, time, or other considerations; secure justification from the subrecipient for such changes, and notify the grant office in a timely manner so it can review and, if approved, prepare an Amendment.
11. Plan for efficient completion of performance and close-out of the Subaward by requiring that the Subaward period of performance end no later than the end date of the prime award, and that the subrecipient's final invoice, final technical report, and any required reports, including those on property, use of small businesses, or inventions, be submitted to the university no later than sixty (60) days after the end of the Subaward period of performance or as otherwise stated in the subaward terms and conditions.
12. Assist the grant office, upon request, in obtaining or reviewing reports, advising the grant office during risk analyses, complying with additional monitoring responsibilities for high-risk auditees, obtaining audit information or monitoring a subrecipient's adherence to corrective action plans.

C. Grant Office (aka Sponsored Research Office; refer to Section VI.)

The grant office is responsible, in coordination with other university offices, for the following:

1. Collect the subrecipient's audited financial statements or federal Single Audit summary information from the Single Audit Clearinghouse website, prior to the initial subaward and annually thereafter for renewed agreements.
2. Prepare, negotiate, and ensure the execution of the subaward, including renewals and extensions, in accordance with the budget and work statement as outlined in the prime contract.
3. Advise subrecipients of requirements imposed on them by the Uniform Guidance, other federal or state laws, sponsor regulations, and the provisions of contract and grant agreements as well as any supplemental requirements issued by grant office.
4. Ensure all federal flow-through subawards shall include appropriate debarment language requiring the subrecipient to assure the PI, principals on the project, and the university that they are not debarred from receiving federal funds.
5. Consult with the university Grant accounting office when a subrecipient invoice (or any invoice) contains costs which differ from the approved budget or appear to be unclear, unusual or unallowable.
6. Require each subrecipient to permit the university and its auditors to have access to the records and financial statements as necessary to ensure that the subrecipient is in compliance with the Uniform Guidance.
7. Coordinate university response to any subrecipient's audit findings, including demonstration that the subrecipient makes necessary corrections.

D. Grant Accounting Office

The university Grant accounting office is responsible for the following:

1. Review and take action on all subrecipient invoices after departmental review and approval of each invoice has been completed.
2. Request additional information, or confirmation, for any invoiced cost which appears to differ from the approved budget or appears to be unclear, unusual or unallowable and do so in consultation with the grant office.
3. Ensure accurate and timely payment of all invoices.
4. Provide subrecipients with up-to-date budget information as needed.
5. Coordinate through the PD/PI and the Grant offices to assure that proper financial close out procedures are followed.

V. Operational Procedures

A. Selection and Oversight of a Subrecipient

The PD/PI is responsible for determining the need for a subrecipient and/or contractors and therefore the need for a subaward and/or other procurement action on a sponsored project, and for the initial determination of which mechanism is appropriate. PD/PIs are typically assisted by the university grant office in making this determination. Federal sponsors may require universities to document the determination, in which case, the grant office will either complete the sponsor's determination or sign off on the PI/PD's determination. (Refer to Section II Definitions.)

Since a subrecipient, as defined, is not selected through a procurement action, the PD/PI must select a subrecipient based upon his/her assessment of the potential subrecipient's ability to perform the research or program work successfully. This includes an analysis of the subrecipient's past performance, technical resources and an assessment of the reasonableness of the subrecipient's proposed costs in light of the work to be performed. (Note: a risk assessment at a later point in the process includes financial stability.)

Rarely, and only in cases where the sponsor does not insist on the name of a subrecipient, a PD/PI may recognize the need for outside involvement on a project but is either unable to identify the best subrecipient by the time of proposal submission, or is unable to acquire all of the required paperwork from that subrecipient. In these instances, proposals may be submitted with a subrecipient "To Be Named." PD/PIs may be asked by their grant office or grant accountant to provide documentation of the basis for their subaward cost estimate for the work being performed. PD/PIs will also be responsible for managing any budgetary shortfalls that may result from their inability to accurately predict a subrecipient's costs, such as preparing budget revisions for the sponsor's approval. Subrecipients should not be asked to reduce their F&A recovery or to otherwise cost-share because of the university's failure to include appropriate costs in its proposal.

A subrecipient's proposal elements are expected to conform to the sponsor requirements for the prime proposal. PD/PIs are responsible for ensuring that they request all materials from their subrecipients in the correct format.

B. Pre-Award Spending on Subawards

A subaward will not be issued, nor payments to a subrecipient authorized, prior to receipt and acceptance of a funding commitment from the prime sponsor. A PD/PI or designee may not authorize a subrecipient to begin working without a fully executed subaward agreement in place. Proposed subrecipients who commence work without a fully signed subaward agreement from the university do so at their own risk and have no assurance of payment from the university. In the event a subaward is subsequently issued to a subrecipient, a subrecipient may claim costs properly incurred under its own risk, provided that the costs are otherwise allowable and the subaward agreement specifically authorizes "pre-award costs." In such cases, the subrecipient must furnish evidence to the university that all required compliance approvals were in place at the time the costs were incurred.

C. Subaward Funding Mechanisms

The university issues subawards on a cost-reimbursement basis. Rare exceptions may be made when it can be demonstrated that a fixed-price agreement is in the best interest of the university and meets the restrictions of the Uniform Guidance (at 2 CFR 200.201 and 200.332).

D. Term of Subawards

When feasible, the term or time of performance of a subaward agreement should be slightly shorter than the university's time of performance to allow sufficient time for collection and review of the subrecipient's final reports.

E. Sole Source Certification

A separate Sole Source Certification Form (a Pennsylvania state procurement form) shall not be required by university representatives for any subaward. Such form is appropriate for procurement actions only.

F. Subaward Agreements

Subaward agreements must be in a form acceptable to university Legal Counsel. At minimum they must contain the following provisions as required by the Uniform Guidance:

1. Federal Award Identification elements (2 CFR 200.331(a)(1)
  - a. Subrecipient name as registered in DUNS
  - b. Subrecipient's DUNS number
  - c. Federal Award Identification Number (FAIN)
  - d. Federal Award date
  - e. Subaward period of performance Start and End Date
  - f. Amount of Federal funds obligated by this action
  - g. Total Amount of Federal funds obligated to the subrecipient (e.g. prior awards)
  - h. Total amount of the Federal Award
  - i. Federal Award project description, in a form responsive to the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act (FFATA)
  - j. Name of Federal awarding agency, pass through-entity, and contact information for awarding official.

- k. CFDA Number and Name; identifying the dollar amount made available under each Federal award and the CFDA number at the time of disbursement
  - l. Identification of whether the award is R&D; and
  - m. Indirect cost rate or F&A rate for the federal award (including if the de minimis rate is charged per 2 CFR 200.414);
2. Time of performance;
  3. Terms of payment;
  4. Submission of performance reports, data, financial information;
  5. Access to records and financial information as requested;
  6. Termination for convenience and for cause;
  7. Records retention;
  8. Intellectual property rights;
  9. Subrecipients approved or de minimis federal F&A or indirect cost rate, as allowed by sponsor;
  10. Federal audit requirements;
  11. Debarment and Suspension;
  12. Anti-Lobbying;
  13. Remedies for Non-compliance (2 CFR 200.338--200.342);
  14. Other sponsor requirements, particularly Federal and state statutes, regulations and the terms and conditions of the sponsor's award;
  15. Special conditions for high-risk subrecipients; (see Section VI)
  16. Appropriate terms and conditions concerning close-out;
  17. Sections 13, 14 and 16 of the State System agreement template (see Supplemental Information).

G. Subaward Performance and Financial Reporting

Subrecipients shall submit performance and financial reports no less frequently than annually and no more frequently than quarterly, except in unusual circumstances, e.g. frequent reporting is necessary for effective monitoring, or frequent reporting could significantly affect program outcomes. Reports are due typically within 30 days of the end of the activity period or other date as determined by the University.

1. Subrecipient reports shall include:
  - a. a comparison of actual accomplishments to the objectives of the award;
  - b. reasons why performance goals were not met;
  - c. a financial report that compare the subaward's actual expenditures against budgeted expenses with analysis and explanation of cost overruns or high unit costs;
  - d. obligation and expenditure of any "match" funds, if applicable; and
  - e. data required by the Federal awarding agency.
2. Subrecipients must report any developments that have significant impact upon the supported activity as soon as the following types of conditions becomes known:
  - a. Problems, delays or adverse conditions which have a material impact on the project;
  - b. Favorable developments which have a material impact, such as significant cost savings or beneficial results that differ from expected.
3. Subrecipients must provide audited financial statements annually or a federal Single Audit (available through the Single Audit Clearinghouse).

VI. Subrecipient Monitoring – Risk Analysis

The university is required to perform a risk analysis to evaluate the likelihood that a subrecipient will fail to comply with the requirements of the subaward (2 CFR 200.331(b)). This risk analysis is handled by the grant office during the subaward issuance process, and is monitored during the life of the subaward. The criteria used in evaluating risk include:

1. the subrecipient's previous audit results,
2. the extent and results of prior oversight and monitoring of the subrecipient by the university,
  - a. history of compliance with general or specific terms and conditions
  - b. record of meeting expected performance goals
  - c. concerns identified during the sponsor's merit review of the proposal
3. the nature and complexity of the scope of the proposed subaward,
4. fiscal maturity of the subrecipient,
5. fiscal stability of the subrecipient

A. Definition of Low-Risk and High-Risk Auditees

Low-risk subrecipients (the vast majority of potential subrecipients) include entities with current annual Single Audits containing "unmodified" opinions on their financial statements, and which have no reported material weaknesses in their internal controls.

High-risk subrecipients are:

1. Entities which have not completed annual Single Audits, or whose audit results have demonstrated weaknesses in administering Federal funding, a history of failing to adhere to applicable provisions of contracts and grant agreements, or weak internal control structures.
2. Entities which have prior unresolved findings from university's monitoring
3. Entities with -
  - a. limited resources or
  - b. little prior experience in performing the same or similar subawards
  - c. novice personnel or
  - d. new or substantially changed systems
4. International subrecipients shall be considered high-risk considering they operate under different laws and are likely unaware of federal flow-down requirements.

B. Special Actions for High-Risk Subrecipients

When the grant office has categorized a subrecipient as "high-risk," it will work with the PD/PI to ascertain whether or not a subaward should be issued, what special terms and conditions should be included in the subaward, as well as what additional oversight requirements will be necessary to adequately monitor the subaward. Some of these additional monitoring requirements (e.g, more frequent reporting, shorter periods of performance, smaller, more frequent funding allocations, or more detailed invoices or backup documentation) will become the responsibility of the PD/PI and administrators to enforce. In addition to the subrecipient agreement, additional written agreements, such as detailed timelines and staffing plans, logic models, etc, may be used to outline the responsibilities of the parties.

The university grant office is responsible for ensuring that adequate arrangements are in place to mitigate the additional risk to the university before issuing or continuing subawards with high-risk subrecipients.

C. Notification to Subrecipient

When a subrecipient has a history of failure to comply with general or specific terms and conditions of an award or failure to meet expected performance goals, the university may impose additional specific award conditions and must notify the subrecipient (per §200.207 (b)-(c) of:

1. the nature of the additional requirements,
2. the reasons for the additional requirements,
3. the nature of any actions needed to remove the requirements, if applicable,
4. the time allowed for completing the actions if applicable, and
5. the method for requesting reconsideration of the additional requirements.

Any special conditions must be promptly removed once the conditions that prompted them have been corrected.

D. Subrecipient Site Visits and Site Audits

Depending on the university's assessment of risk, PD/PI's and/or grant officers should engage in a site visit to a subrecipient to verify their programmatic, financial and technical fitness prior to entering into and/or continuing an agreement. Universities should be prepared to provide training and technical assistance on program-related matters. On-going monitoring site visits during project implementation are encouraged for high-risk subrecipients whenever feasible.

E. Award Period Monitoring

Universities are required to monitor all subrecipients, regardless of risk determination, during the award period and such efforts shall include:

1. Analyzing financial, technical and programmatic reports submitted by subrecipients and performing other procedures as necessary to ensure the subrecipient's proper accountability and compliance with program requirements and achievement of performance goals
2. Following up and ensuring that subrecipients take timely and appropriate action on all special conditions and other deficiencies detected through audits, on-site monitoring and other means.
3. Issuing a management decision for audit findings affecting the university's programs, as described in the Uniform Guidance.

F. Compliance

In cases on non-compliance the university shall consider taking enforcement action against non-compliant subrecipients as described in §200.338.

VII. Close-Out of Subawards

A Subaward is closed out when its period of performance comes to an end, regardless of whether the university's research project is ending or continuing. When feasible, it is advisable for a subaward period of performance to be slightly shorter than the university's, to allow sufficient time for collection and review of the subrecipient's final reports, verification of subrecipient data, and incorporation of the subrecipient's research results into the university's final technical report to the sponsor.

A. Final Technical Reports

PD/PIs are responsible for obtaining final technical, performance and financial reports from their subrecipients, and retaining a copy in their project file. PD/PIs are encouraged to remind subrecipients of this need well in advance of the due date for such reports.

B. Other Close-out Reports and Documents

Other final reports, including property reports, invention reports, and Assignment and Release documents may be required. PD/PIs may be asked to assist the grant office in obtaining the necessary closeout reports in a timely manner from the subrecipient.

C. Final Invoice

In order for the university to comply with its financial report requirements, subrecipients are required to liquidate all obligations and submit a final invoice, clearly marked FINAL to the university no later than sixty (60) days after the end of the subrecipient's period of performance, or such other date as may be specified in the Subaward. Subrecipients must return balance of unobligated cash that the University paid in advance and that is not authorized to be retained. In the event no invoice is received sixty (60) days after the end of a subaward, the university may treat the subrecipient's last invoice as the final invoice. Payment for subrecipient invoices submitted to the university later than sixty (60) days after the end of the Subaward may not be paid. PD/PIs and departments are responsible for assisting the university in obtaining final close-out information, including invoices, from their subrecipients.

D. Post Close-out Responsibilities

The closeout of the subaward does not affect:

1. The right of the university to disallow costs and recover funds;
2. The obligation of the subrecipient to return any funds due as a result of later refunds, corrections or other transactions;
3. Audit requirements of the Uniform Guidance;
4. Property management and disposition;
5. Record retention.

VIII. Sanctions

Employees who do not fulfill their obligations under these requirements may be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with the applicable CBA, existing university rule or policy, Board of Governors Policies and State System procedures/standards.

In addition, the university shall follow Federal regulations regarding the notification of the sponsoring agency or repayment to the sponsoring agency in the event noncompliance with these requirements results in payment of costs that are not allowable, not allocable or not reasonable relative to the sponsor's terms and conditions and the subaward issued by the university. The sponsor may take its own action, as it deems appropriate, including demanding repayment of such costs or the suspension of funding for the university, Project Director or Principal Investigator until the matter is resolved, or suspension or debarment from all federal grant for a period of time for severe cases.

IX. Supplemental Information

Training resources and agreement templates and other implementation tools are included in Supplemental Information, which may be updated without formally revising the Procedures/Standards.
