FRENCH SEMINARS on Haiti: FRN 400 and FRN 490 combined (6 Credit Hours)

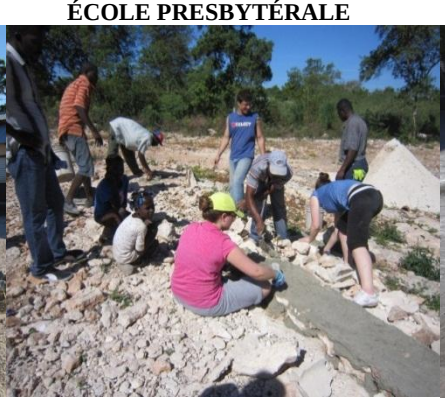
WINTER TERM 2013-2014

Online and in Haiti, with service-learning
FRENCH AND ENGLISH OPTIONS

GROS MANGLES, HAITI

AVANT
BEFORE

CONSTRUCTION
ÉCOLE PRESBYTÉRALE



APRÈS
AFTER

Photos of the 2012-2013 trip

The French Program in the Modern Languages Department is offering 2 combined seminar courses in La Gonâve, Haiti during the winter break of 2013-2014. The course will center on the culture of Haiti and will allow students to explore the rich literature and history of the country. Part of the course will be taught online prior to the trip. The trip to Haiti will include a service-learning component to help continue building a playground for the École Presbytérale in the village of Gros Mangles. The estimated cost of the trip is $1850, which includes all transportation (air and ground), room, meals, taxes, admission fees to museums and participation in the building project. The tuition is additional.

Dr. Ragone teaching at the Haitian school.

We will see the following places:

- The Monument to Dessalines and the Flag.
- The Haitian National Pantheon.
- The Monument to the Nèg Mawon (Escaped slave).
- Traditional markets.

We will participate in the life of a rural area and

- Interview villagers.
- Contribute to the village life with improvements for the school.

If you are interested in this double course please contact:

Dr. Blandine Mitaut at 717-477-1503 or bmmitaut@ship.edu
Dr. Agnes Ragone at 717-477-1559 or acrago@ship.edu

2012-2013: Dr. Mitaut at the Haitian National Pantheon
with the students and the trip facilitators

First informational meeting for the trip and course
February 12 in Rowland Hall 117 at 6:30