Instructor

Dr. Liz Fisher

Liz is a licensed social worker and Associate Professor in the Department of Social Work and Gerontology at Shippensburg University. She is also the field director for the BSW program. She has taught undergraduate and graduate courses for Temple University in Harrisburg and University of Maryland at Baltimore. Dr. Fisher's experience includes working with the YWCA Carlisle, Maryland Association of Nonprofit Organizations, Pennsylvania GEAR-Up and Cumberland/Perry Housing and Community Partnership. Her interests include leadership in social services, homelessness, poverty, gender issues and social justice. Liz regularly publishes and presents related to these issues. She is one of the few experts on transformational leadership in social services.

This series is open to all types of social service workers. Leadership takes shape in many different ways and may be through formal or informal roles. The knowledge and personal insight that you will gain from the workshops is applicable in many settings, including work, home, school and/or social organizations. The series is designed to help new and experienced leaders alike.
