INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK 2018

Monday October 22, 2018

CLIMATE SURVEY SPEAKER – DR. RUPERT NACOSTE, Old Main Chapel, 5:00–6:00PM

Getting Along at the Table of Neo-Diverse Campus: How We Can Move from Anxiety to Respect

Neo-diversity is this time in American life when each of us has unavoidable encounters and interactions with Americans from many different racial, ethnic, religious, mentally conditioned, socioeconomic, sexually oriented, bodily conditioned and gender groups. Dr. Nacoste uses his thirty years of experience to help us walk through and navigate intergroup relations. He will speak respectfully and frankly about the challenges that we all face as we navigate spaces that are neo-diverse and give us some insights that can help us manage the resulting anxieties. | Sponsored by the Office of Social Equity.

Tuesday October 23, 2018

Immersion Afternoon, Rowland Hall Rooms 100, 101, 103, 106, 117, 209, 3:30–4:30PM

Spend an afternoon experiencing world cultures. Language, culture, food, and fun await you! Have you ever wanted to learn about various countries in Latin America, Spain, France, China, Germany, and more? Come and interact with faculty and students who are experts on these countries. We will also have a World Languages Karaoke Jam. International food will be served. | Hosted by the Department of Global Languages and Cultures.

International Film, The Secret in Their Eyes (Argentina, 2009) Orndorff Theater, CUB Room 123, 6:30PM

A retired legal counselor writes a novel hoping to find closure for one of his past unresolved homicide cases and for his unreciprocated love with his superior—both of which still haunt him decades later. | Co-sponsored by the Department of Global Languages and Cultures and Department of International Studies.

Wednesday October 24, 2018

Study Abroad: Where Did You Go, What Did You Do & Would You Do It Again? Orndorff Theater, CUB Room 123, 6:30PM

Students will discuss their personal overseas study and travel experiences to countries in Europe as well as Haiti and the Dominican Republic. | Moderated by Dr. Mark Sachleben, Associate Professor of Political Science.

Thursday October 25, 2018

Going Global: Working Internationally, Orndorff Theater, CUB Room 123, 3:30PM

Professionals are no longer confined to a local geography when working in non-profits/businesses—the world can be their market from day one! Come experience the various stories that highlight different countries, cultures, and traditions. Learn how to identify advantages and liabilities of working internationally, how to manage it locally and globally, and build partnerships and personal networks. | Hosted by the Career, Mentoring, and Professional Development Center.

International Foods Night, Reisner Dining Hall, 4:00–8:00PM

Sample a variety of ethnic foods from all over the world. The dinner meal must be purchased upon entrance into Reisner. Students may use their meal plan or you can pay at the door ($10.45 for members of the Ship community & general public). | Hosted by Chartwells Dining Services.

All Week

Sit in on a Language Class, Hosted by the Department of Global Languages and Cultures.

Interested in learning a language but haven't been able to commit to an entire semester of study? Sitting in on a language class is a perfect way to decide if enrolling in a course would be the right fit for you. | A schedule of classes is available at: ship.edu/iew

International Flag Display

International Flag Display on the Library Quad has been installed by 5th grade students from Grace B. Luhrs Elementary School under the direction of Dr. Sean Cornell, Associate Professor of Geography/Earth Science. The flags represent the vibrant diversity of Ship students, faculty and staff from around the world. | Sponsorship provided by the Department of International Studies.

All events are open to SHIP students, faculty, staff and the local community. There is no charge unless otherwise noted.

International Education Week is coordinated by the Center for Global Education: International Studies & International Programs.

For information on studying abroad, visit the International Programs website: ship.edu/study_abroad