Due to the breadth of the field, including its large number of specialties, and due to the fact that each possible major field and each individual student may have very different needs, we believe that we may best serve the student by providing considerable flexibility in the minor. Further, it is intended that the students develop their minors in consultation with their major advisors.

NOTE: Some courses may have prerequisites and 400-level classes require junior or senior status.

A minor in psychology is constructed in the following manner, after a student has met the pre-requisite PSY 101 as a Category E General Education course. Students must take three courses from the Knowledge Base (A) and 1-2 courses in the Skills/Careers and Social Awareness areas:

A. GOAL: Core Classes (9 CREDITS): All courses require a grade of C or Better
- PSY235: Conditioning and Learning
- PSY240: Psych of Personality
- PSY265: Child and Adolescent Psych
- PSY270: Social Psychology
- PSY320: Behavioral Neuroscience
- PSY323: Sensation and Perception
- PSY325: Human Cognition*
- PSY330: Abnormal Psychology
- PSY352: Psychology of Adulthood and Aging
- PSY355: Psychology of the Exceptional Child
- PSY383: Children’s Understanding of their Social World

* Background in stats/methods is recommended

B. GOAL: Professional Development (3-6 CREDITS)
- PSY311: Applied Behavior Analysis (Prerequisite: PSY 235)
- PSY335: Social Influence (Prerequisite: PSY 270 **)
- PSY432: Psych of Computers & Internet
- PSY435: Psychopharmacology (Prerequisite: PSY 320 **)
- PSY475: Industrial & Organizational Psych. (Prerequisite: PSY 205 **)
- PSY485: Tests and Measurements (Prerequisite: at least one stats./methods course)

 OR Permission of instructor

C. GOAL: Ethical and Social Responsibility in a Diverse World (3-6 CREDITS)
- PSY315: Psychology of Prejudice and the Minority Experience
- PSY350: Psychology of Sustainability
- PSY365: Multicultural Psychology
- PSY410: Psychology and Women
- PSY420: Health Psychology
- PSY447: Multicultural Health Psych
- PSY470: Legal Psychology

Students must have a total of 9 credits in Goals B & C, with at least one course in each of these areas.

Revised, February 2\textsuperscript{nd}, 2016