The department of Communication/Journalism is seeking candidates for the position of Assistant Professor, effective August 2013.

Responsibilities: To teach undergraduate and graduate courses in public relations and mass communication. The candidate will be expected to take an active role in the department, including: pursuing professional, creative and/or scholarly activity; developing new curricula; advising students; serving on departmental and university committees; and assisting student media organizations. Other duties may be determined relative to the skills and interests of the applicant and the needs of the department.

Requirements: Earned doctorate or terminal degree in Mass Communication or related field preferred, but an ABD candidate may be considered if close to completion. A terminal degree from an accredited institution is required for tenure. Experience and knowledge in the areas of public relations research, writing and design are preferred. A presentation of recent research and/or professional portfolio, as well as a demonstration of teaching effectiveness, will be required as part of the required on-campus interview. We strive to enhance the diversity of our department and the university community, and encourage applicants who exemplify multi-cultural, multi-disciplinary and global perspectives.

Application Process: Qualified candidates must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts (official copies of transcripts are required for interview), and the names and contact information of three academic references to:

Dr. Ted Carlin, Search Committee Chair,
Department of Communication/Journalism, Shippensburg University
