| CSC - 590 - Computer Science Internship I | https://ship.curriculog.com/proposal:968/form |

- In addition, the following items were discussed and are included as informational items to Forum:

ODL Language:

Internships
Completing a degree in ODL requires completion of a 6 credit capstone experience, including SOC 609 (internship) and SOC 570 (Applied Organizational and Leadership Analysis).

Students who are not employed or are employed in a position that is not full-time must complete an internship at an organization other than their current place of work and other than at Shippensburg University.

Students who are current full-time employees who do not have a position of leadership or who have not been in their current full-time leadership position for at least one year must complete an internship but may do so at their workplace if they prefer to do so. They will be required to identify leadership and special project opportunities that expand their skill set and experience.

Students who are current full-time employees in positions of leadership, who have been in a leadership position at their current workplace for at least one year, have several choices with regard to the internship. They may:

- complete an internship at their worksite or another site, OR

- request to have the internship requirement waived and substitute it with another elective course. This option requires a resume, job description, and a letter from one's supervisor documenting your FT employment status for one year or more and that your position constitutes a position of leadership as defined below. The ODL program director will make this determination on a case-by-case basis, OR

- fulfill the internship requirement through Professional Experiences Credit by documenting one's leadership, project management, and organizational decision-making. See the guidelines for this process at: https://www.ship.edu/academics/colleges/graduate/successcenter/forms/

For the purposes of this policy, a "position of leadership" is one with supervisory authority and with significant input into organization policy, direction, and decision-making.

All students must complete SOC 570 Applied Organizational & Leadership Analysis

- The following UCC proposals regarding program and/or policy changes were passed by UCC and are included for a vote at Forum:

1. Social event policy- https://www.ship.edu/globalassets/administration-finance/policies/301-010-social-event-policy.pdf

   This is not a policy the way policies are defined; but instead of more of a procedure for how social events should operate.

   a. Remove Social Event Policy- SU Policy Number: 301-010.0 from an official policy
   b. Update the procedures and place them as a standard operating procedure in the Swataney and the CUB for student clubs and organizations.
