PRE-ARRANGEMENTS

Visa

Citizens of

- EU countries and EFTA countries do not need a visa. They can register with the local authorities upon arrival.
- Australia, Canada, Japan, Israel, South Korea, New Zealand, United Kingdom, and the United States can enter Germany without a visa and must apply for a residence permit upon arrival.
- Non-EU countries who hold a valid residence permit from another EU member state may study in Germany for up to 360 days without a visa. The European Directive EU2016/801, the so-called REST Directive, must be observed here. The residence permit of the other EU member state must be valid for at least the entire duration of stay in Germany.
- Other countries are advised to contact the German embassy or the nearest German consulate.

For further information, please visit the website of the Federal Foreign Office: www.auswaertiges-amt.de/EN/EinreiseUndAufenthalt/Uebersicht_node.html

Accommodation

Leuphana University supports incoming exchange students in finding suitable accommodation. For information on housing options, please see the website: www.leuphana.de/accommodation.

Arrival services

New international students will be provided individual assistance upon arrival. Volunteer students, so-called 'buddys', will help students from abroad to settle in and make them feel at home in Lüneburg. Buddys pick up new students at either the airport or the train station, take them to their place of stay and provide support to cope with daily life matters. Students can sign up for the buddy program by sending an e-mail to: buddy@leuphana.de

Health insurance

- Health insurance covering full medical care during the study abroad in Germany is obligatory. Travel insurance is not accepted.
- For enrolment at university, there is an electronic registration procedure in Germany that can only be carried out between German health insurance companies and the universities. This is the reason you have to contact a German health insurance company, which will then register you with Leuphana.

STUDIES

Course information	All programs of study at Leuphana University have been modularized in order to support international student mobility and to allow credit transfer. A module is defined as a unit that comprises a set of courses on a given topic including a final exam. The module handbook is accessible at: https://mystudy.leuphana.de/vvz/show Log in as guest. Select a program of study. Click for module description.
Module selection	Guidelines for module selection are available at: https://www.leuphana.de/en/institutions/international-center/coming-to-leuphana/studying-at-leuphana/exchange/module-selection.html Exchange students register at Leuphana University in the same study program just like at their home university and in accordance with our cooperation agreement. For their module selection, they have access to all fields of study and are allowed to take up to 50% modules from other subject areas according to their study level (bachelor/master). The module selection will be finalized within two weeks prior to the start of lectures by attending a mandatory module selection navigation program (information and selected single events with online access), additionally an optional consultation is offered with the academic advisor at Leuphana University. However, this does not guarantee a place in a specific module/course, since places in some study programs (e.g. Psychology, Digital Media) are limited. Priority is given to students majoring in their field according to the partner universities cooperation agreement.
Semester workload	The standard semester workload comprises 30 ECTS credits. A standard module at Leuphana University comprises 5 ECTS credits.

OTHER INFORMATION

Sustainability

Leuphana University is pursuing the path of sustainability in research, education, cooperation and campus operations. For Leuphana University, sustainability is a principle that is practised in all areas of the University.

For the sustainable development of campus operations, Leuphana University is EMAS (Eco-Management and Audit Scheme) certified, has been climate neutral since 2014, and has been awarded the label Fairtrade University.

At the Faculty of Sustainability, researchers focus on global challenges and their solutions. It offers study programs with a focus on sustainability. A large number of students initiatives are involved in various topics for their sustainable campus: urban gardening, sustainable music festival, social, sustainable business, no waste, etc.

Disability

The University campus is widely accessible for people with disabilities. A limited number of apartments for disabled students is available.

Travel

The International Center organizes a couple of weekend trips during the semester, e.g. to Bremen or to the seaside, in winter to Christmas Markets like in Lübeck. In addition, students can easily go by train from Lüneburg or by plane from Hamburg to destinations in Europe.

Internship / Volunteer opportunities

There are jobs and volunteer opportunities on and off campus. Leuphana Career Service provides assistance in applying for an internship upon completion of the study abroad.
